

INTERSTATE SHOOT
WILL BE FEATURE AT DU PONT AFFAIR

Newcomb-McCarty Team, of This City, Will Oppose Richardson and Foord, of Wilmington, at the Lateter Place Today.

Every follower of trapshooting in this section of the country has his eyes fixed on the battle between the two mighty shooters representing this city and the duo holding honors for Delaware, for the championship of the two States, today, at the traps of the DuPont Trapshooting Club, Wilmington, Delaware. The four well-known shooters are Charles B. Newcomb and George S. McCarty, of this city, and Alden B. Richardson and William B. Foord, of Wilmington.

Some valuable trophies have been donated for this match, which will be at single targets only, each man shooting at 100 clay birds, the 200 target total deciding the match.

It is expected that other two-man State team matches will be staged following this one, New Jersey with Maryland and the winner with the successful pair in today's contest.

Some of the noteworthy achievements in the shooting history of these men are interesting. Newcomb won the Eastern Handicap Midwinter Handicap at Pinehurst, N. C., twice, the last time breaking 95500 from 21 yards, high amateur average at the Eastern Handicap on two occasions; amateur average at the Westy Hogan's Open tournament twice; Westy Hogan's Open championship, New York; York City Club's national amateur championship at Travers Island in 1913; interclub and inter-collegiate championships in 1912; Pennsylvania State Challenge Trophy twice; for Southern Handicap amateur average in 1914, at Roanoke, Va.; open championship trophy in Pennsylvania State Tournament, 1913; double gold for Southern Handicap amateur, with George Lyon, at 21 yards, and won the shoot-off, 40 straight to 30, made greatest average ever shot in Pennsylvania State championship last May, with 49500.

George S. McCarty is always high scoring man at the Camden Shooting Association and at the Highland Gun Club. McCarty won the amateur championship at Travers Island in 1913; interclub and inter-collegiate championships in 1912; Pennsylvania State Challenge Trophy twice; for Southern Handicap amateur, with George Lyon, at 21 yards, and won the shoot-off, 40 straight to 30, made greatest average ever shot in Pennsylvania State championship last May, with 49500.

William B. Foord has stood well up to his rating as "gun man" with an official average last year of 9400 per cent. He also won the amateur championship at Travers Island, N. Y., in 1913, and the Delaware State championship on several occasions.

Alden B. Richardson has been State champion of Delaware a number of times, the last time acquiring permanent possession of the cup, at the same show he won the DuPont amateur championship of Delaware, the Hockessin Open, the championship and the trophy for high amateur score for a Delaware shooter. Richardson's record for clays "skipped" in registered tournaments during 1914 was 300 per cent.

Other events to be staged at clubs this afternoon are the following: Philadelphia Electric Company Gun Club, Highland Park Country Club, Cedar Brook, Moriah, Meadow Springs, Curtis Country Club, Cedar Park and a team match between the Blue Rock Gun Club, Chester, and the Farrant Shootermen's Association, at Camden.

FORDHAM RELAY STAR BARRED
AT ONE-YEAR RULE Prevents McNulty Running Here Today.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Fordham's chances of a victory in its class race at the Penn carnival at Philadelphia today, received a bad jolt yesterday, when Manager Harlan announced that McNulty, who has been running in first place on the Maroon quartet, would be ineligible for today's race.

McNulty was a member of the Georges team last year, and it was only through his efforts that the Maroons rallied from that one-year rule in view of the larger intercollegiate meets. Kean, who has been running the furlong in open competition under the Maroon colors, was selected by Bernie Wefers yesterday to fill in the vacancy. Fordham has been raised from Class 6 to Class 2, and will meet Colby, Swarthmore, Carlisle, Penn State and Georgetown.

NOBODY LOVES THE CARDINALS; THEY MAY BE SOLD ANY DAY

Schuyler Britton Merely Waiting to Get Right Price.

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—Bob Beacher, recently acquired by main strength from the Giants, is now the only one who does not look upon the Cardinals with favor. The St. Louis Nationals have few supporters these days, as was instanced today by a statement given out by Schuyler Britton.

The owner of the Cardinals admitted that he would be willing to sell the club, if the price he wanted could be met. Since it is generally acknowledged that Mrs. Britton holds the purse for the St. Louis team, the significance of the statement of her better half is somewhat lessened. It is thought here, however, that the Brittons would both be willing to dispose of their interest in the club, other things being equal.

HARDWICK TO COACH NAVY

Star Harvard Ends Toss Football Job at Annapolis.

BOSTON, April 24.—Taft Hardwick, for three years Harvard's varsity football star, playing end on the victorious Crimson eleven during the season of 1914, today announced that he would accept the position of coach at Annapolis next fall.

Hardwick's decision will mean an entire change in the coaching policy of the Middies. The Yale system has been used at Annapolis for years, and the effect on the Navy of the shift to the Harvard method is likely to furnish interesting comparison, following, as it does, Harvard's two banner years in football.

Chandler Company, Newark; Standard Electric Company of Newark; Western Electric Company, of New York; Bell Telephone Company, of New York, and the Michaels Telephone Company, of Newark. The league will be in effect in 1915.

Mack Expected to Use Kopf or McConnell at Third—Leonard for Red Sox.

BOSTON, Mass., April 24.—There are rumors around the camp that Connie Mack is not satisfied with Eddie Murphy's work at third base. If that proves to be the case, Murphy will be back at his regular station in right field this afternoon in the Red Sox game.

Should Murphy be sent to the outfield again, the chances are that Bill Kopf will be used. However, the report gained currency yesterday that Mack might give young McConnell, a Philadelphian boy, a chance to show once more. McConnell is a fair fielder, but is not strong enough with the stick at present to be of any great value to Mack.

The batters for this afternoon will likely be Pennoch and McAfee for the Athletics and Leonard and Carrigan for the Boston club. The weather conditions are much more favorable than yesterday, although the game might have been played yesterday afternoon had President Lamm called it off so early. About 2000 fans went out yesterday fully expecting to see the contest.

Hardwick gained his lead when Evans, the runner, got out of bounds on the 10th hole. He covered the first nine holes in 34, two strokes better than any made on the Inside course since the links were recently lengthened. The match ended unexpectedly on the 18th green.

E. H. Bankard, of Chicago, kept up his winning streak by defeating E. S. Armstrong of Los Angeles, southern California champion, in nine holes.

H. Chandler, of Portland, former national and Western champion, defeated Harold Lamb, of Los Angeles, 3 and 1.

Harry K. Davis, of San Francisco, defeated A. H. Vincent, of San Francisco, 2 and 1.

Davis is scheduled to meet Egan and Bankard play Schmidt in the semifinals today.
